The backward noise, the plane of the head with 2 stude, as if he had been really a child; and passing a step or two on, and stopping a moment, glanced at the young cousins. His look was thoughtful, but had a benignant expression in twhich I often (how often!) saw again: which has long been engiaven on my heart. The toom in which they well, communicating with that in which he stood was only lighted by the fire—Ada sat at the plane; Richard sat beside her, which he stood, was only lighted set beside her, Ada sat at the piano; Richard set beside her, bending down. Upon the wall, their shadows blended together, surrounded by strange forms, not without a ghosely motion caught from the unsteady fire, though reflected from motionless objects.—Ada touched the notes so softly, and sang so low, that the wind, sighing away to the distant hills, was as audible as the music. The mystery of the future, and the little clew afforded to it by the voice of the present, seemed expressed in the whole picture.

of the present, scenare expressed at the waste preture.

But it is not to recall this fancy, well as I remember it, that I recall the scene. First, I was not quite unconscious of the contrast, in respect of meaning and intention, between the silent look directed that way, and the flow of words that had preceded it. Secondly, though Mr. Jarndyce's glance, as he withdrew it, rested but a moment on me. I felt as if, in that moment, he confided to me ship. Mr. Skimpole could play on the piano and the violoucello; and he was a composed—had composed half an opera once, but got tired of it—and played what he composed, with taste. After tea we had quite a little concert, in which Richard—who was enthralled by Addr's singing, and told me that she seemed to know all the songs that ever were written—and Mr. Jarndyce, and I, were the audience. After a little while, I missed Mr. Skimpole, and afterwards Richard, and while I was thinking how could Richard stay away so long, and low so much, the maid who had given me the keys looked in at the door, saying, "If you please, miss, ceuld you spare a minute?"

When I was shut out with her in the hall, she said, bolding up her hands—

"Took, Miss. Sudden," said the maid.
I was apprehensive that his illness might be of a dangerous kind; but, of course, I begged her to be quiet, and not disturb any one; and collected myself, as I followed her quietly up stairs, sufficiently to consider what were the best remedies to be applied if it should prove to be a fit. She threw of an a door, and I went into a chamber; where, to my unspeakable surprise, instead of finding Mr. Skunpolo stretched upon the bed, or prostrate on the thoor, I found him standing before the fire, sunling at Richard, while Richard, with a face of great curbara-sment, looking at a person on a soft, as or white great each with smooth his trapent on

"Then you didn't think, at all events," proceeded Mr. Skinpole, "to this effect. 'Harold Skinpole loves to see the sun shine; loves to hear the wind blow; loves to hear the birds, those lights and shadows; loves to hear the birds, those choristers in Nature's great cathedral, And does it seem to me that I am about to deprive Harold Skinpole of his share in such possessione, which are his only birthright!' that effect?"

"I—certainly—did--xor!" said Coavinses, whose doggedness in utterly renouncing the idea was of that intense kind, that he could only give adequate expression to it by putting a long interval between each word, and accompanying the last with a jerk that might have dislocated his neck. "Very odd, and very curious, the mental process is, in you men of business!" said Mr. Skimpole, thoughtfully. "Thank you, my friend. Good night."

obe, thoughtfully. "Thank you, my friend. Good night."

As our absence had been long enough already, a to seem strange, down stairs, I returned at once, and found Ada sitting at work by the fineside, talking to her consin John. Skimpole presently appeared, and Richard shortly after him. I was sufficiently engaged, during the remander of the evening, in taking my first lesson in backgammon from Mr. Jarndyce, who was very fond of the game, and from whom I wished of course to learn it as quickly as I could, in order that it might be of the very small use of being able to play when he had no better adversary. But I thought, occasionally, when Mr. Skimpole played some fragments of his own composition; or, when, both at the piano and the violoncello, and at our table, he preserved, with an absence of all effort, his delightful spirits and his casy flow of conversation; that Richard and I seemed to retain the transferred impression of having been mrested since, and that it was very enrious altogether.

It was late before we seperated: for when Ada was going at eleven o'clock, Mr. Skimpole went to the piano, and rattled hilariously, that the best of all ways, to lengthen our days, was to steal a few hours from Night, my dear! It was past twelve before he took his candle and his radiant face out of the room; and I think he might have kept us there, if he had seen fit, until daybreak. Ada and Richard were lingering for a few momenta by the fire, wondering whether Mrs Jollybyhad yet finished her dictation for the day, when Mr. Janndyce, who had been out of the room, returned.

"Oh, dear me, what's this, "what's this," he "Really, sir," said Richard, "I don't think it would be honorable in me to tell you. Mr. Skimpele relies upon us—"

He was now alternately putting his hands into his pockets, as if he were going to keep them there a long time; and taking them out agam, and vehemently rubbing them all over his head.

I ventured to take this opportunity of that Mr. Skimpole, being in all such matters quite a child.—

"Certainly! certainly!" we said

"And he is a child! Now isn't he" asked M. Jarndyce, brightening more and nore.

He was indeed, we said.

"When you come to think of it, it's the height of childishness in you—I mean me—" said Mr. Jarndyce, "to regred him for a moment as a man. You can't make him responsible. The idea of Harold Skinapole with designs or plansor knowledge of consequence! "Why, what a cod's head and shoulders I am," said Mr. Jarndyce, "to require reminding of it. The whole business shows the child from beginning to end. said Mr. Jarndyce, with his whole face in glow.

We all confirmed it from our might's experience.

Important Decision.

At the recent session of the U. S. Supreme Court at Washington a decision was made in a ense growing out of a collision between the Propeller General Chief and a sail vessel on Lake Ontario, which settles some important points of Admiralty and Maritime jurisdiction. We me in-debted to his Honor, Judge Miller, for a copy of the syllabus of this decision, taken by Mi BENJAMIN C. HOWARD, the Reporter to the Court-The opinion itself, which is long and argumentative, will be published in the Western Law Journal of Cincinnati, for this month. The points lecided are as follows: The Act of Congress, passed on the 26th of Februnry 1845 (5 Statutes at large, 726) extending the jurisdiction of the District Courts to certain cises upon the Lakes and navigable waters connecting the some, is consistent with the Constitu-

It does not rest upon the power granted to Conress to regulate Commetce. But it rests upon the ground that the Lake and navigable waters connecting them, are within the scope of Admiralty and Maritime Jurisdiction as known and understood in the U. S, when the Constitution was adopted. The Admiralty and Maritime Jurisdiction granted to the Federal Government, by the Constitution of the U. S., is not limited to tide-water, but extends to all public navigable lakes and rivers, where Commerce is carried on between different States, or with a foreign nation. THE "PIUS" SOCIETY. Messes, Editors:-

It becomes necessary to notice an article in the Free Democrat of May 5th, 1852, which is calculaled, perhaps innocently, to give a wrong impresion. The German Society spoken of, is a religious society and called the "Pius Society." The German Catholic priests of this City, solemnly declare that there is no Secret Society of Germans holding religious exercises in any Catholic Church in the whole world, and that the Catholic Church forbids 2 professo any of her mombers joining such Sociey on pain of excommunication. So that any Catholic on joining a Secret Society, at that moment coases to be a Catholic. The Editor of the Free Democratican be more satisfactorily informed Fugitive Slave Shot.

Columbia. Pa., April 30.

Second Dispaten.—Deputy Marshal Linder, of Harrisburgh, accompanied by officer Ridgley, of Baltimore, and Mr. Stansbury, arrived here yesterday for the purpose of expturing a negro, an alleleged slave of the latter gentlemen.

The party proceeded to the Lumber Yard at the southern extremity of the town, where the negro was engaged in piling lumber, and attempted to arrest hum. The Fugitivo, whose name was Smith, made an attempt to ascape when officer Ridgley drew a pistol and discharged the contents through his neck, and he fell dead instantly.

Ridgley stated that he should deliver himself Ridgley stated that he should deliver himself up to the authorities upon his arrival at the borough. He however left the place, when officer Snyder took the cars for Harrisburgh in pursuit. The Deputy Coroner held an inquest on the body of the negro, and the Jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Snith leaves a wife and two children, and has resided here far the past 18 months.

The above facts are gleaned from statements before the Coroner's Jury.

The United States steamer Saranae, will shortly sail from Pensecola for Nicamgua. She will convey an agent of our own government, and the British Consul General, having, for their adjustment some of our difficulties, so far as the United States and Great Britain are concerned, and with every prospect of the most favorable results:

The Picagune's advice to march 10th, confirm the previous reports of the rejection of the Telusatepec Treaty by the Mexican Congress. It. is thought probable that Congress would adopt a more liberal tariff, and not raising the prohibition tax. Philadelphia, May J.

The firemen's display to day was said to be the greatest of the kind ever witnessed in the United States, 69 Philadelphia companies, and 39 visating companies, were in the procession—it was four miles long, and occupied two hours in passing a given spot. Nearly all the choice musical bands of New York, Boston and Baltimore, were in the procession.

ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN CANAL TOLES.—The ALLENDIS AND SHERROAN CANAL TOLLS.—The tolls in April last, reached $9,988 29, while during the same period in '51, they were only $4,845 16. This shows an increase of $5,143 13.

Boston, April 30.

Boston, April 30.

The steamer Levantine from Bermuda, April 23d, reached Halifax on the 28th. The potato crop on that Island is good.

From Barbadoes we have accounts, taken from the Grenda Chronicle, that on the 4th ult. a ship's figure-head of unusual dimensions was cast ashore in the inward part of the island. It had been originally fully S feet high, and is that of a Senator in the act of speaking. He is partially buld, and holds a seroll in his right land, the left grasping a scarf, which is partly thrown over him. The papers conjecture, on what grounds we do not learn, that it may be a part of the ill-fated steamer President.

The fever was gradually abating at Demarana but the Inspector General of Police and Lieut. Bott had died of it.

Interesting Intelligence from the East.—By the R. M. steatoer America we have Halifax papers of Wednesday morning.

By the arrival of the steamer Osprey, at Halifax, we have dates from Newfoundland to April 25th. In the gale of April 20th, sealing vessels to the number of fifty or sixty, were wrecked, in the ice, with the loss of a large number of lives. A list of eighteen vessels, having full cargoes, is given. Portions of the crews of the shipwrecked vessels had been brought in about one hundred, who except to the island, are there in a destitute and starving condition. Grants of £300 for their relief had been made by the Assembly, and vessels were about to sail to their aid. The disaster is aid to be nearly equal to that of prince Edward's Island last year. A vessel which arrived at St. Johns, April 27th, reports that upwards of a thousand shipwrecked sailors had reached Greenesford.

Hall Road Accident and Attack on the Line. Cincinnati, April 28. Yesterday, while passing through Fulton, the accommodation train on the Little Miami Railroad ran over a girl 12 years of age, killing her instantly—and last night a mob tore up the track for about 1/2 of a mile. Several arrests were made, and all is quiet now. Denta of Dr. Alcott.

Springfield, Mass. April 30.
Dr. Alcott, brother-in-law of Rufus Choste, died here very suddenly yesterday. A Brutal Outrage upon Lola Moutes.

A Lola Montes was entertaining a party of friends in her parlour in the Howard House hast erening, some high words arose between herself and a certain Italian Chevalier, when the brute in the shape of a womman, a blow on the face! Four or five craven-hearted loons in breaches, stood by without lifting a finger in her defence! Lola immediately or recovering rang the bell, and dispatched a servant for her friend, "Mr. Pick," who came to the rescue and; gave the Italian brute a well-deserved filogging. We have these facts from one of the parties. We would give more particulars but for lack of time and space: We understand there is great excitment to-day among the Italian Coffee Houses; and more fights are likely to grow out of the afiair.—N. Strong & Co., Milwaukee.

The undersigned would respectfully solicit the attention of dealers in and consumers of Coalim Milwaukee to our Card, as above. The Bolivar Coal is unquestionably superior to any other mined in Ohio, for Grate, Blacksmitting, Machinery, or Domestic purpotes; and for Steam purposes, is superior to any except thriar Hill. But peculiarly well adapted to Shipping, as its extreme hardness renders it capable of bearing any amount of handing, without waste. It can be afforded considerably cheaper than Briter Hill, and for most purposes, is better.

It is our wish to introduce the article, and we respectfully solicit orders, contident that a trial is only necessary to convince any of the truth of the shower ascertion.

The undersigned, having carefully examined the prossed rooting Tiles, evented by Mr. Graesie, have found them perfectly answering the purpose intended. Their practical and carefully examined that kind of Tile, not only as a fire-proof and perfectly water-proof covering, but show all for its durability. The ridges and channels not only accule the eutering of snow or rain-water, but, by their firm and precise joining of one into the other, they give to the single Tile as well as to the whole covering an absolutely movemble position and an intimate connection. Besides this, Mr. Gra-ssle's method of burning the Tiles, deprives them of the lightness tendenty to absorb water, making them in this way durable; and joiningto the above another virtue, it, that of dispensing with repairs. from which the above cut was taken. By it we can take the exact shape, and unerringly fit the most irregular heads. Many can testify to the inconvenience, and annoyance, and actual pain they are subjected to, in breaking in Hate that will not fit them. By this ingenious contrivance, this very great annoyance is done away; as the Hate are made to fit perfectly the first time. Another great advantage is, by keeping a copy of the impression, we can at all times fit our customers from all parts of the country.

We invite all who desire a perfect fit in a Hat, to call and leave an impression of their head; and all those who take pleasure in witnessing the inventions of the ingenious, to call and see the operations of this curious instrument:

Having adopted the Casu System (which, all will readily adrinowledge to be the bost,) we are enabled to sell the best Silk Hat made, at the extreme low price of $4.25; surpassing any $5 Hat sold in this city. Our Hate are all manufactured by ourselves, and in offering them to our costomers, we do so, with the confident assurance, they are all we recommend them to be. we invite all who do not wish to pay two profits upon a Hat, and are willing to save 25 per cent, to call and see us.
